

Hello Professor McGowan,

- My name is Phuc Hoang. I also go by Roy or Hiki. I major in Computer Science.
- I have a lot of hobbies that I changed over time. In general, I love collecting. I collect gundams, hot wheels, and sneakers. Recently, I started some interest in modding my car.
- I also like working on creating websites. Therefore, in 5 years, I want to see myself at least have a job or experience as a front-end, back-end, or full-stack web developer.
- From the objectives of this course, "The direct relationship between assembly language instructions and machine instructions" interest me the most.
- Since I have been taking full-time online courses for the last 4 semesters, I think that my expectation is only getting replies and explanations when I run into challenges and have questions in a reasonable timeframe.
